

Our Commitment to Young People

At Learning Creates Australia, we believe in the potential of young people and the transformative power of learning.

Young people are not just the future, young people are critical leaders, thinkers and changemakers today. We place young people at the heart of our purpose and practice.

We are committed to including and empowering young people. We provide the structures, support and opportunities young people need to share their voices, shape ideas, and lead change.

We value and celebrate diversity. We actively engage with, employ, and learn from young people of all backgrounds, recognising the importance of lived experience in shaping more just and inclusive education systems.

Young people, their insights and perspectives are the driving force behind our work- informing, shaping and steering us forward.

We are committed to safeguarding the wellbeing of young people in all their interactions with Learning Creates Australia. This includes supporting their cultural, emotional, mental, and spiritual safety.

We uphold the right to self-determination for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander young people, and we advocate for an equitable learning ecosystem that respects and reflects their cultures, identities, and learning aspirations.

Together with young people, we are building a learning future that is inclusive, fair, and filled with possibility.

A note on how this was developed

This commitment statement is grounded in what young people have told us matters most to them. It draws directly on insights from our youth-led evaluation, presented in the Co-Designing the Future report, which captures their experiences of working with Learning Creates Australia. The statement gathers these expectations in one place.

LearningCreates
AUSTRALIA

Learning Creates Australia is an independent non-profit organisation dedicated to reducing education inequity and creating learning systems where all young people can thrive. We work to dismantle structural barriers, spark innovation, and help schools and communities build learning environments that offer meaningful skills, pathways and opportunities for every student.

We acknowledge the traditional custodians of the land throughout Australia who have been learning and educating on Country for over a thousand generations. We pay our respects to their Elders past and present. You can read our commitment to First Nations self-determination here.
